Welcome to our Second UDI!

So we are in lockdown again.

To my friends and colleagues who may have lost their jobs through this ordeal, I am truly sorry! However, once things turn around and I have confidence that they will, physical retail will come back stronger and experiences for the consumer will be paramount. We have worked on many examples of just this during the pandemic and they have been fruitful for the brands. We continue to work on further exciting projects which echo this way of thinking.

Now is the time to be resourceful and even more creative. Think out of the box, we have never faced a situation like this, so your retort needs to be bigger and bolder than before. Nothing is forever and this is just a snippet in time.

I firmly believe that the brands and companies that think big and work hard to be resourceful will be bigger and better on the other side. For my business, we have endured hardship, turmoil and challenges over the last months but have conquered these indifferences and risen to the challenges we have faced. I have no doubt there are more to come but my team and I are ready and prepared to deliver whatever is necessary during and after these trying times as failure is not an option. Our hubs in Central Europe, USA, London and China have allowed us to service our worldwide client base and maintain our commitment to deliver their needs through the pandemic.

On an even more personal note, I know the challenges for parents. I have 3 wonderful daughters, aged between 1 and 18 years (oh yes, that's a whole other story), whether it be home schooling or just keeping them and my wife and I sane, it is difficult. I'm not a lover of the TUC, but couldn't agree more with their request for companies to support their employees by taking advantage of the furlough scheme and allowing parents to parent during this time. Our company policy is just this and we are doing all we can to allow our staff a work and life balance.

Things can only get better, so let's try and be positive and make something good out of something, very, very bad.....I know it's hard but is there another way?

For those of you who may need some help/advise/a chat... I'm here, so please DM me if I can help in any way.

Love and luck to you all.

Jonathan

SERIES FS

Dior had collaborated with Air Jordan to produce a new and exclusive Dior Air Jordan collection. Our brief was to turn the shoes into a 3d sculptures and add them to a bespoke mannequin that we designed. We also to produced 3d props of the iconic shoes for the Launch.

Exciting challenging and quite technical in nature, we loved and relished the project. We used different processes to retain the specific details.

Cutting edge technology was used to create print and cast the forms. We delivered all this during the Covid 19 crisis using our London and overseas manufacturing facilities.

NEW WORK

NEW WORK

Universal Display has been producing bust form for many decades. Over the years we have built up a substantial library of forms in different sizes and genders.

Universal Display's bust forms are a Comprehensive collection of fashion and artistic bust forms with fixed arms, articulated arms and can come with various head styles.

We have produced the busts in many different materials, but primarily they are manufactured in papier-mâché.

The bust forms have become popular to date due to their ethical & sustainable nature. Universal's bust forms have been designed to help our clients achieve their creative visions, whilst being very cost effective. We make the busts in the UK and China, our UK manufacturing can facilitate a quick turn around if required.

With so much choice on we are here to help and show you what we can offer, let us know your requirements and we will be pleased to help.

We create mannequins and props, specialising in the development of products to enhance every commercial environments. From concept to the finish products we are here to help advise and guide you through the process, whether your seeking a new bespoke product or just a new colour on one of our existing products. We aim to help everyone from large international corporations with large scale roll outs to boutique shops who require a single item. We know the last year has been challenging for everyone and with that in mind, what we deliver to our clients has to be cost effective as possible. So why not contact us and see what we can do for you, as many retailers have over the last year.

All of us at Universal Display, probably like you, have family & friends around the world who, like us, are feeling the impact of increasingly concerning negative environmental changes. We are conscious that we wish to leave this planet in the same, if not a better, condition than in which we inherited it.

We love working with you and creating amazing products. Now more than ever we have to be mindful of our path to creation and be sure that what we are offering you is truly sustainable. This is why over the last few years we have accelerated our sustainability drive.

We are constantly searching and experimenting with new materials and processes.

We are not where we want to be yet, but we are on a positive journey to sustainability.

Design & research runs through everything we do, our products, materials and production. We have a circular process where all the stages inform and link to each other.

We are now even more aware that the end life of products and how our clients manage these is of great importance and we can help you.

Universal has written a report on Sustainability please let us know your views and feedback.
