Welcome to our festive newsletter for 2023!

It's remarkable to reflect on the passing of another year as we stand on the cusp of 2024!

This year has been a whirlwind of activity and noteworthy achievements, with the addition of new clients and successful collaborations with various suppliers and agencies. These experiences have highlighted the importance of teamwork in ensuring client satisfaction and maintaining excellence in service for our existing partners.

A significant aspect of our journey this year has been the growing realization among our clients that we are not exclusively a mannequin company. Our diverse product range, combined with our expertise in digital sculpting and origination, state-of-the-art in-house 3D printing capabilities, and our commitment to sustainable materials in all production processes and facilities, positions us as a valuable asset. This newsletter features a selection of projects, showcasing both mannequin-related endeavors and our broader product offerings.

We hope you take as much pleasure in exploring these projects as we did in bringing them to life. Look forward to more exciting updates from us in 2024!

If we haven't already started working together, we'd be delighted to discuss how our skills can contribute to the success of your business. Please don't hesitate to reach out to schedule a virtual or physical meeting.

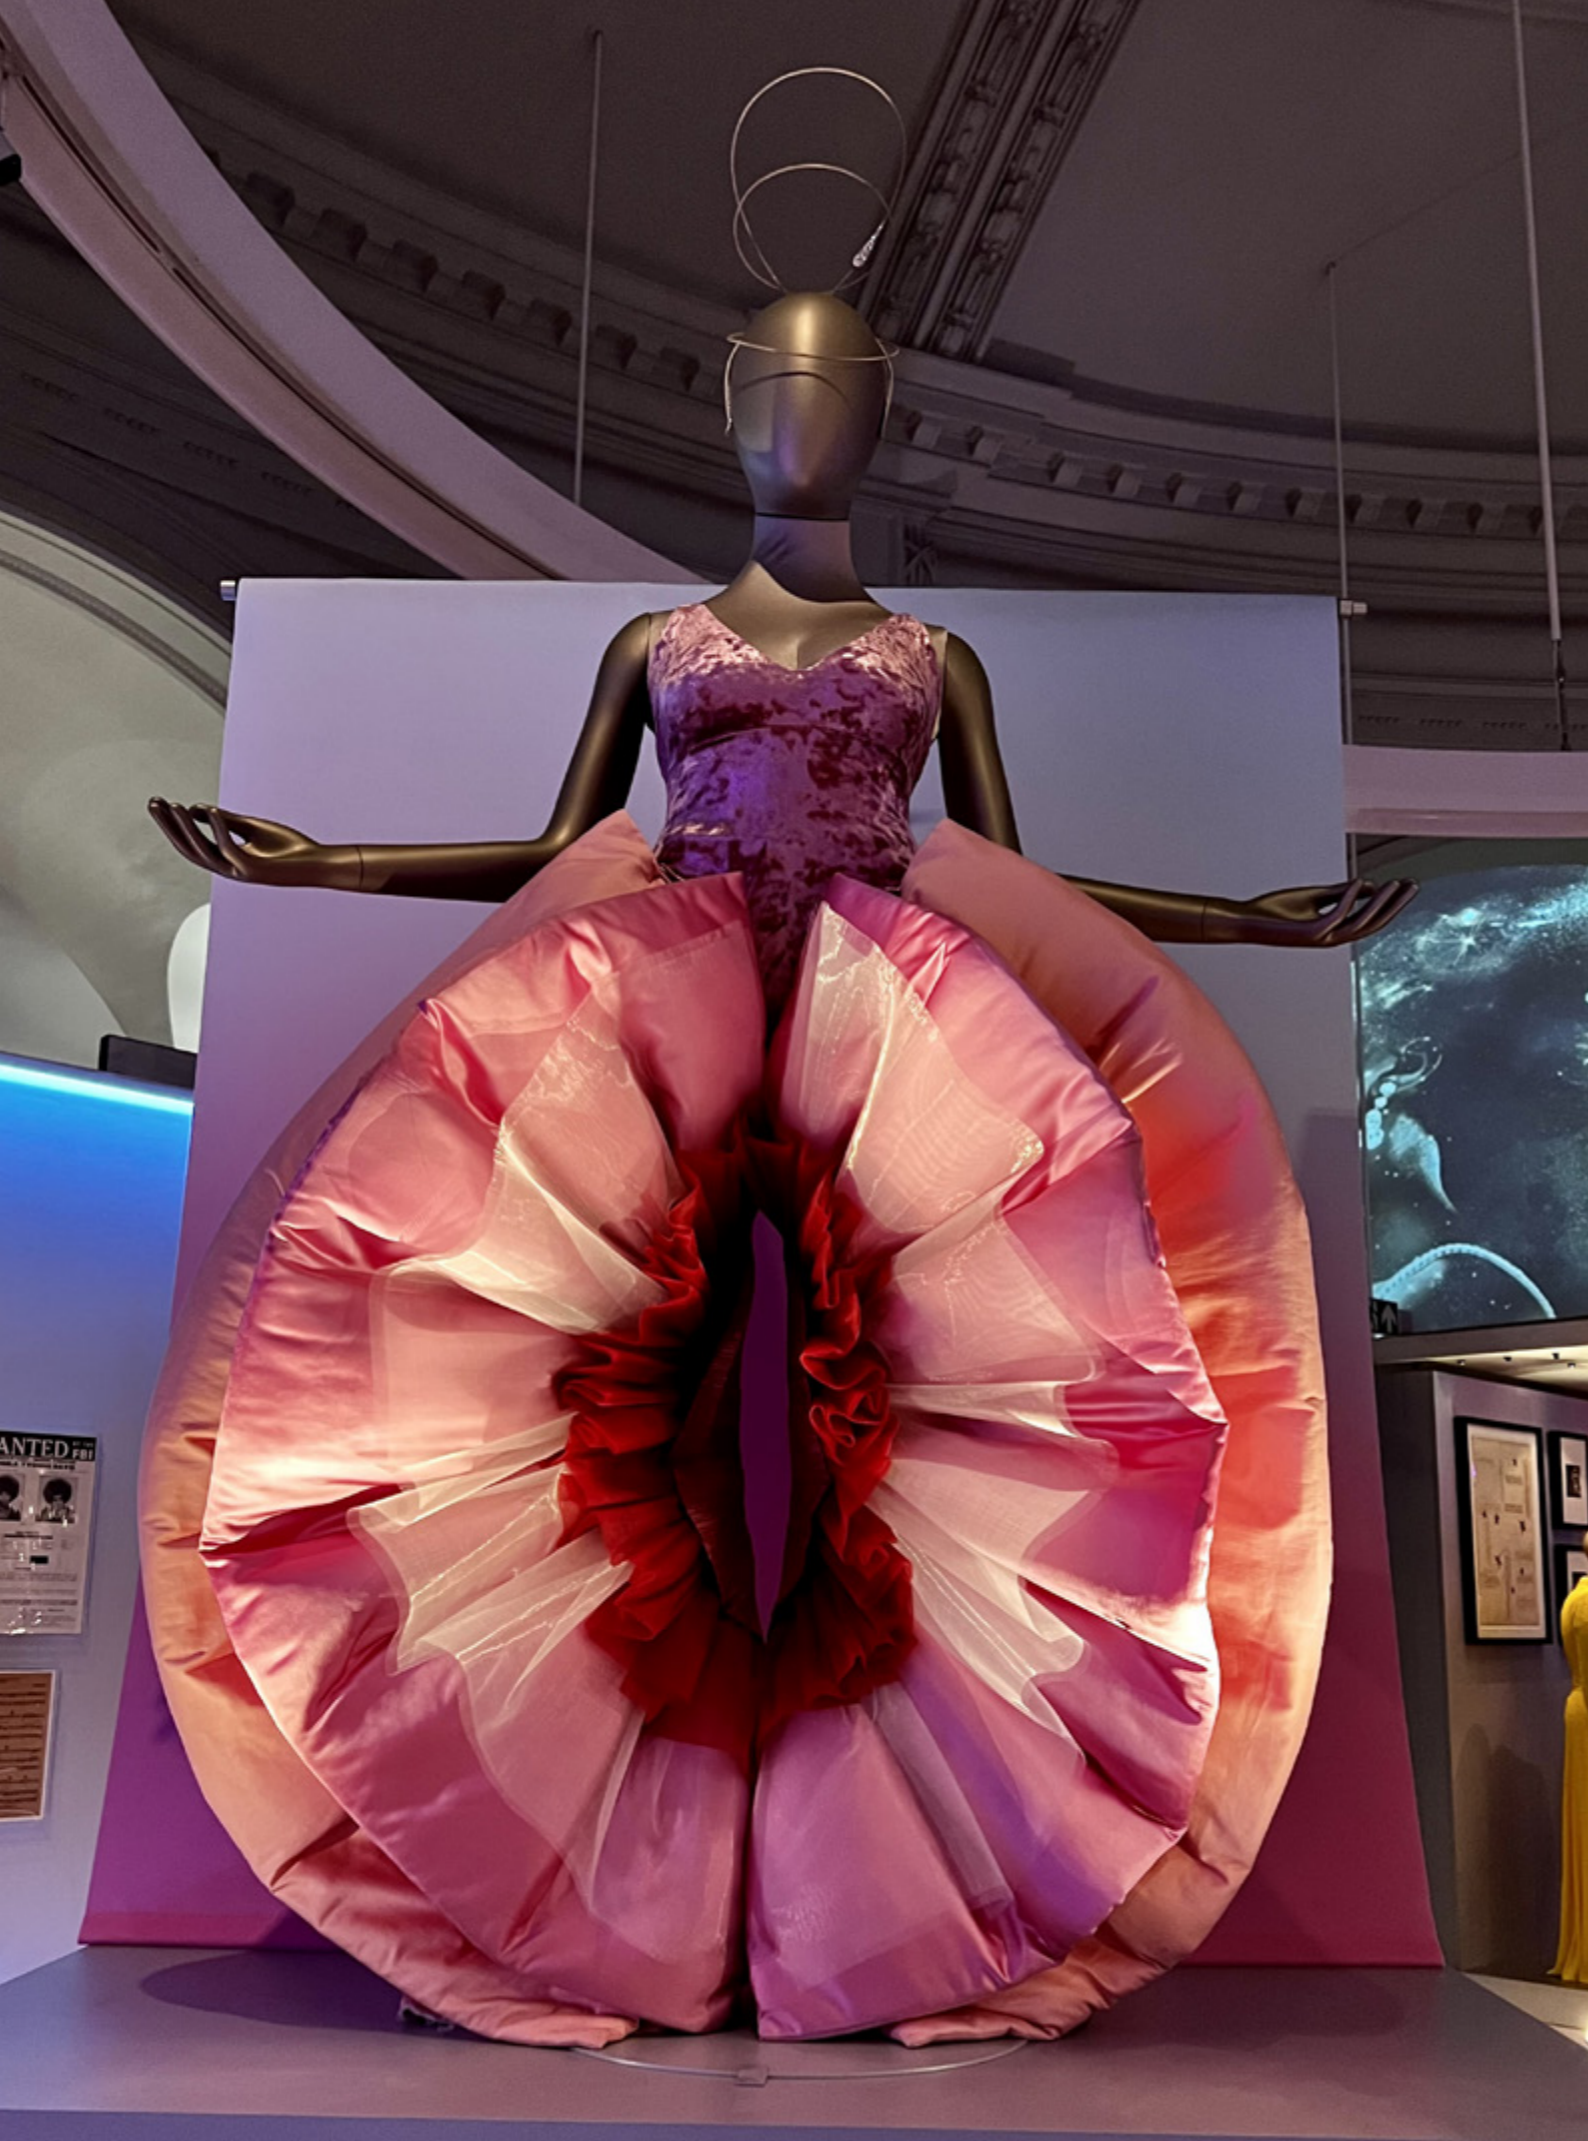

As we wrap up, allow me to extend Seasonal Greetings and heartfelt wishes for Happy Holidays and a Joyous New Year to you and your loved ones!

Jonathan

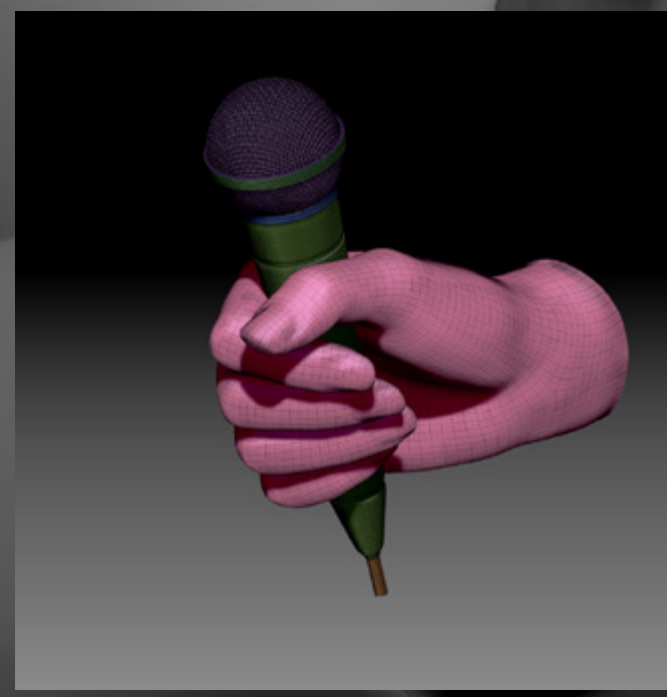

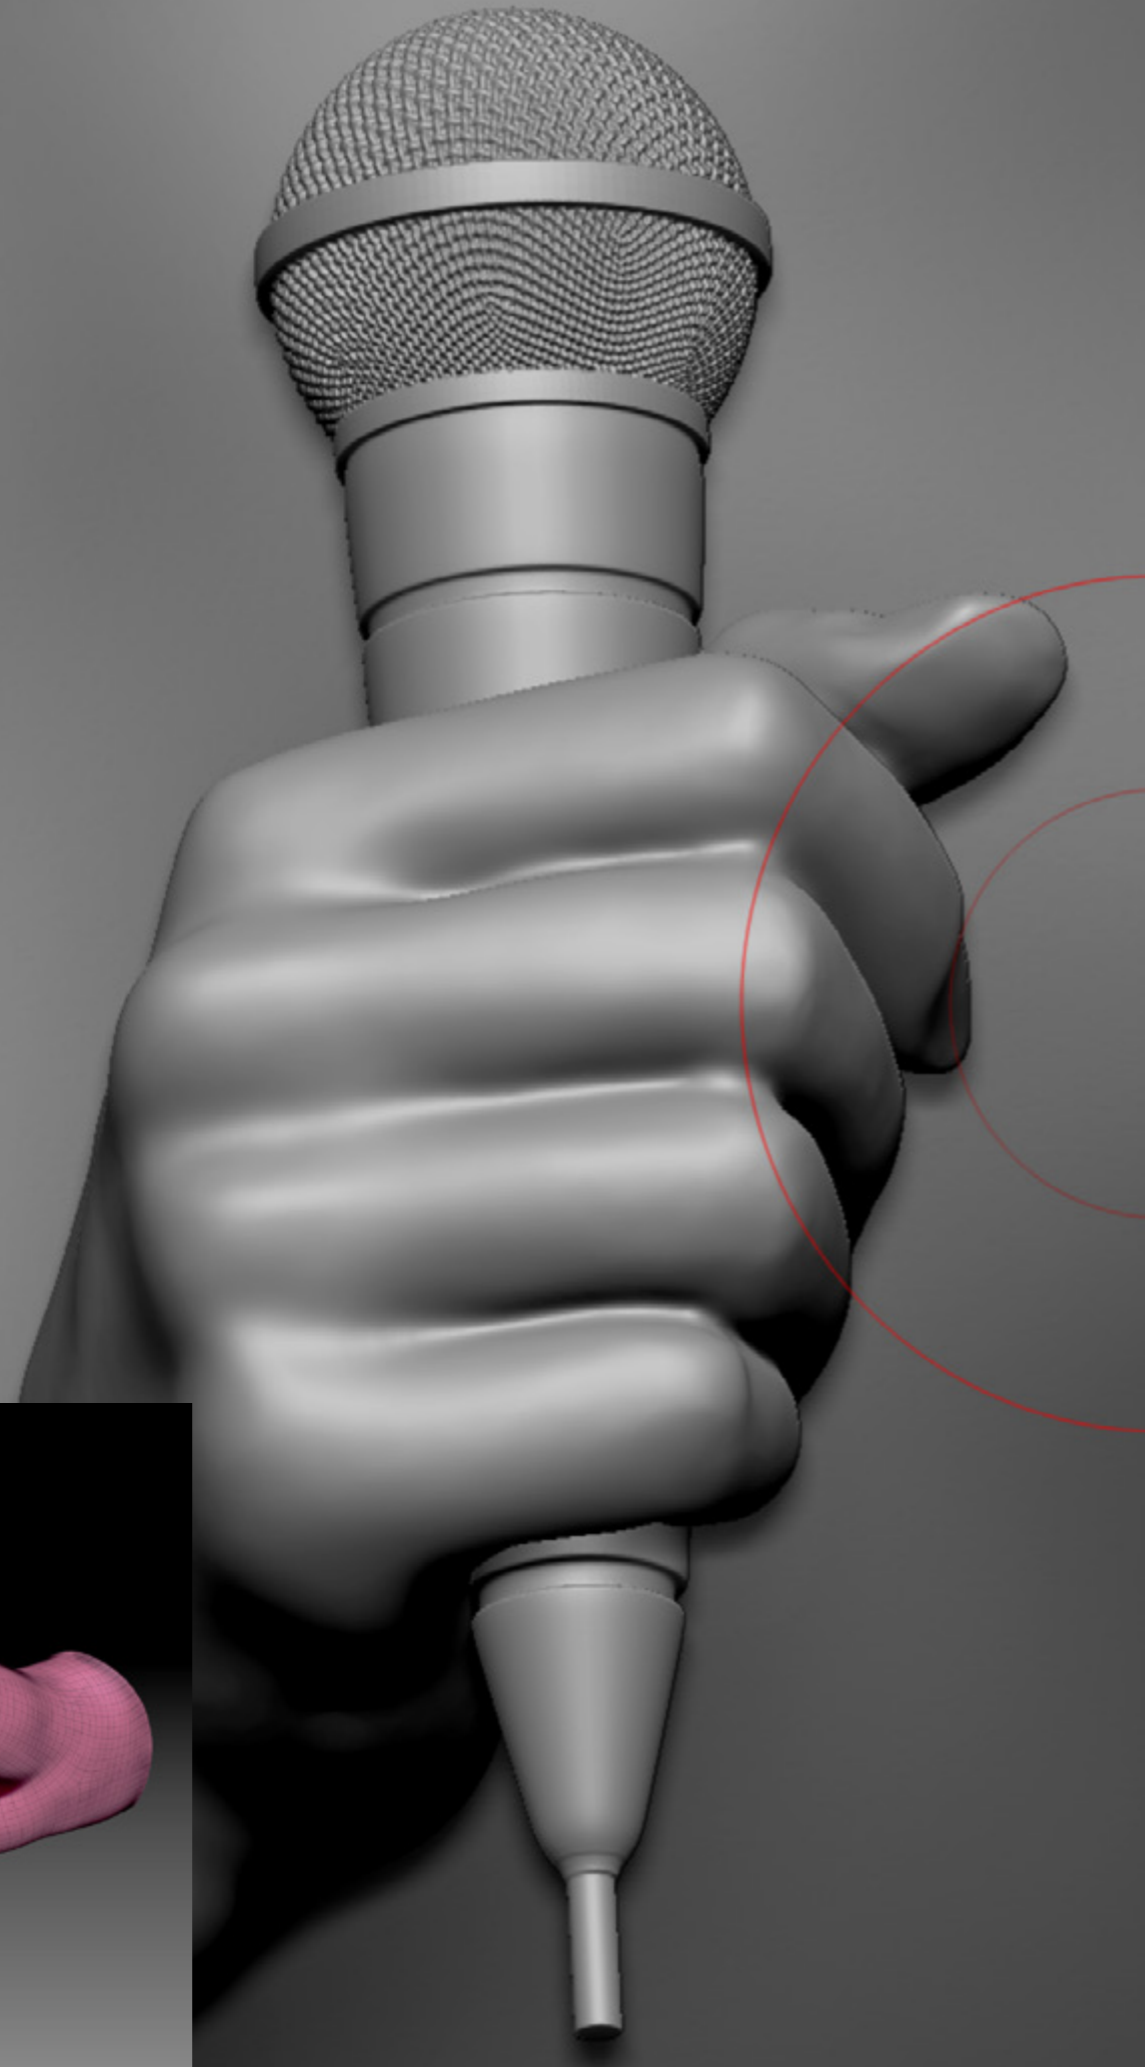

On the evening of June 21st, 2023, we attended the V&A summer party and the grand opening of the Diva exhibition. Over the preceding months, we had dedicated our efforts to crafting a series of innovative modular display figures specifically for this showcase. The unveiling left us elated as we witnessed the impressive results, appreciating the meticulous dressing of the mannequins and the meticulous attention to detail invested by the V&A team in bringing our figures to life. The Diva exhibition itself is a tribute to iconic performers spanning the realms of opera, stage, popular music and film. This captivating showcase delves into the evolving portrayal of the 'diva' archetype, examining how this role has been both subverted and embraced over the course of time. We wholeheartedly encourage a visit to experience the exhibition first-hand, marvelling at the rich tapestry of costumes on display. Be sure to catch a glimpse before the curtains close on April 7th, 2024.

V&A DIVA

V&A DIVA

This Christmas for Dior Men, we designed a collection of dogs, drawing inspiration from the vintage Dior aesthetic.

By enhancing the original form and adorning it with lilies, we brought the concept to life using 3D printing and moulding techniques.

The resulting sculptures ranged in height from 25 cm to 3.2 meters. These translucent sculptures, illuminated from within, allowed Dior to create yet another captivating display for their holiday season windows worldwide.

SERIES M3

Freddie Mercury at Sotheby's, London. Custom sustainable mannequins and bust forms including the sculpt of Freddie's head.
Design, origination, production and delivery within 6 weeks.

SOTHEBY'S FREDDIE MERCURY

SERIES F7

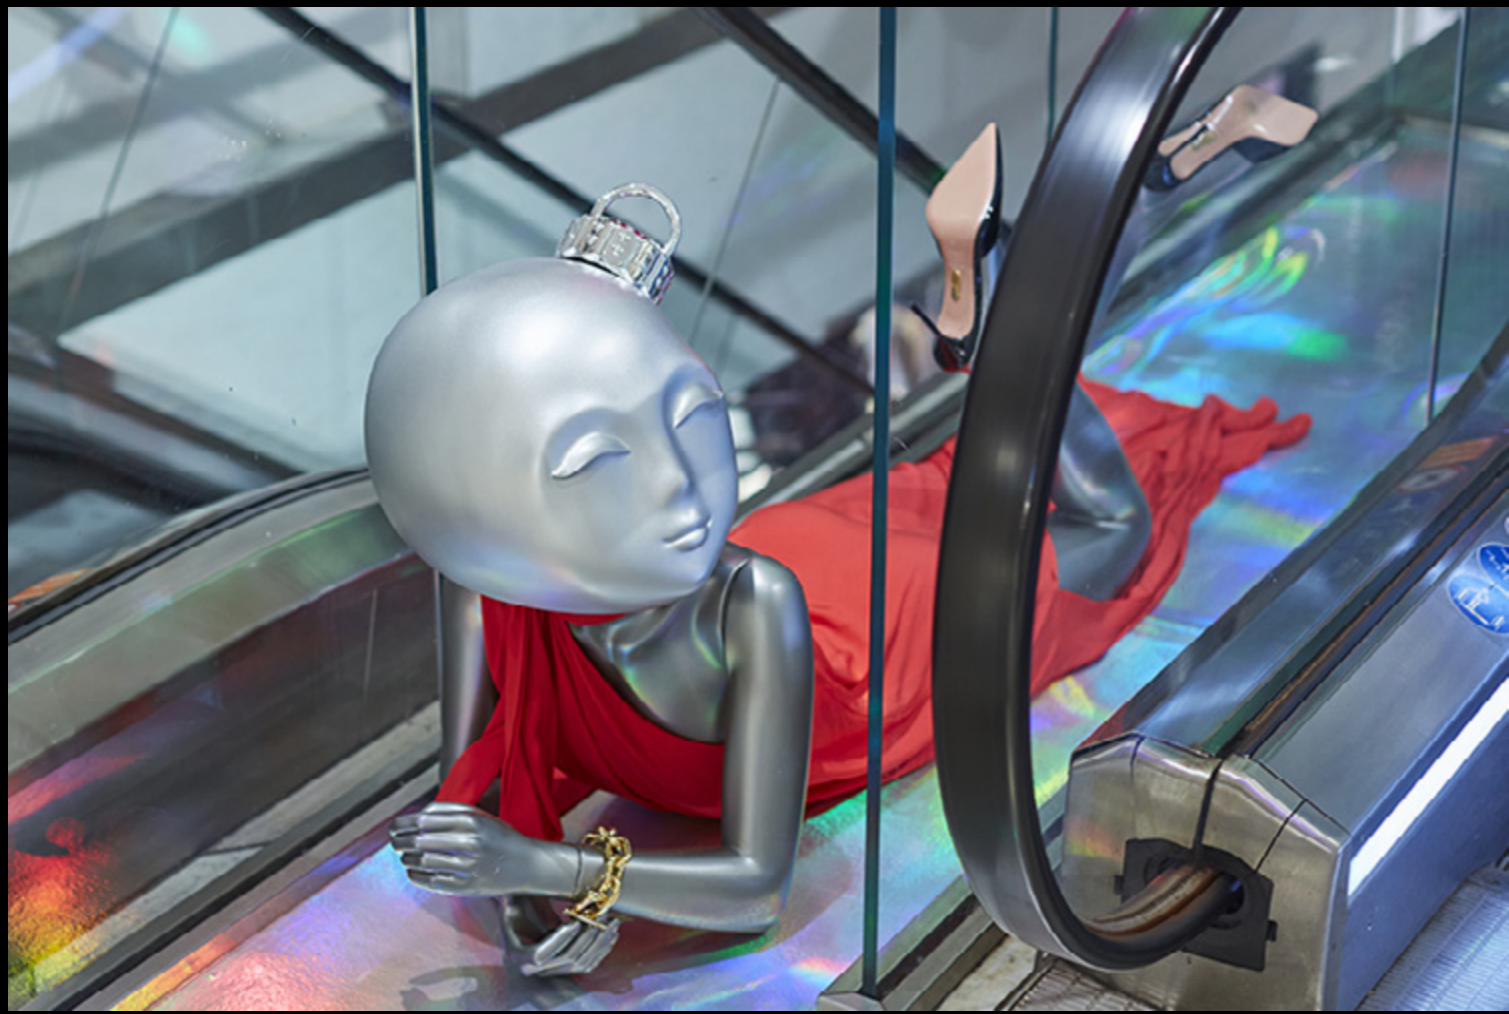

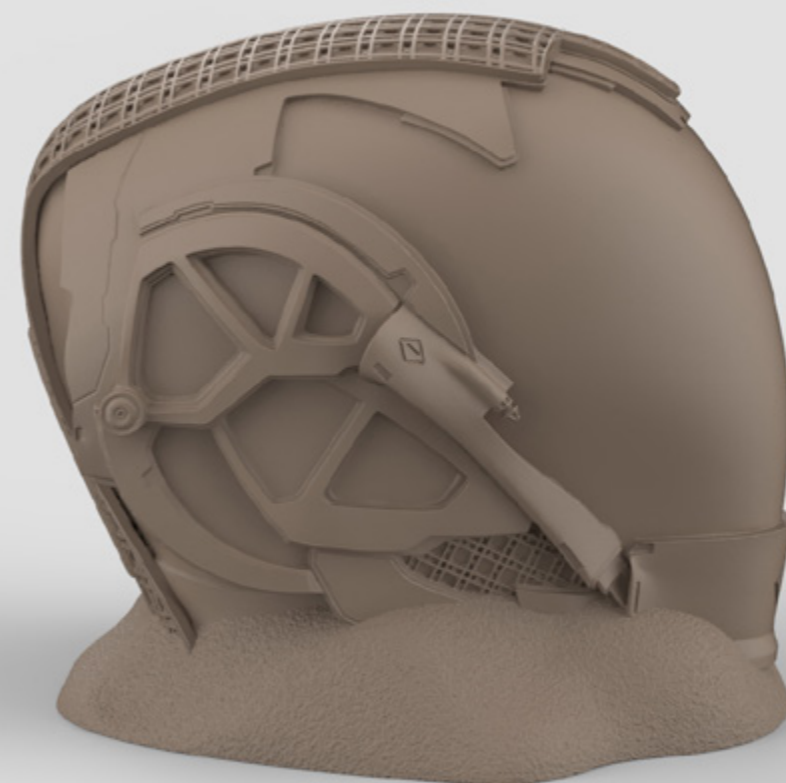

Janet Wardley, Laura O'Connor, and the Harvey Nichols team have once again presented an exceptional array of Christmas windows. Our contribution to this project, was to digitally sculpt the heads to fit the mannequins. Following this, we employed 3D printing to create master heads, which were then moulded for production. The finishing step included the renovation of the mannequins in our London studio.

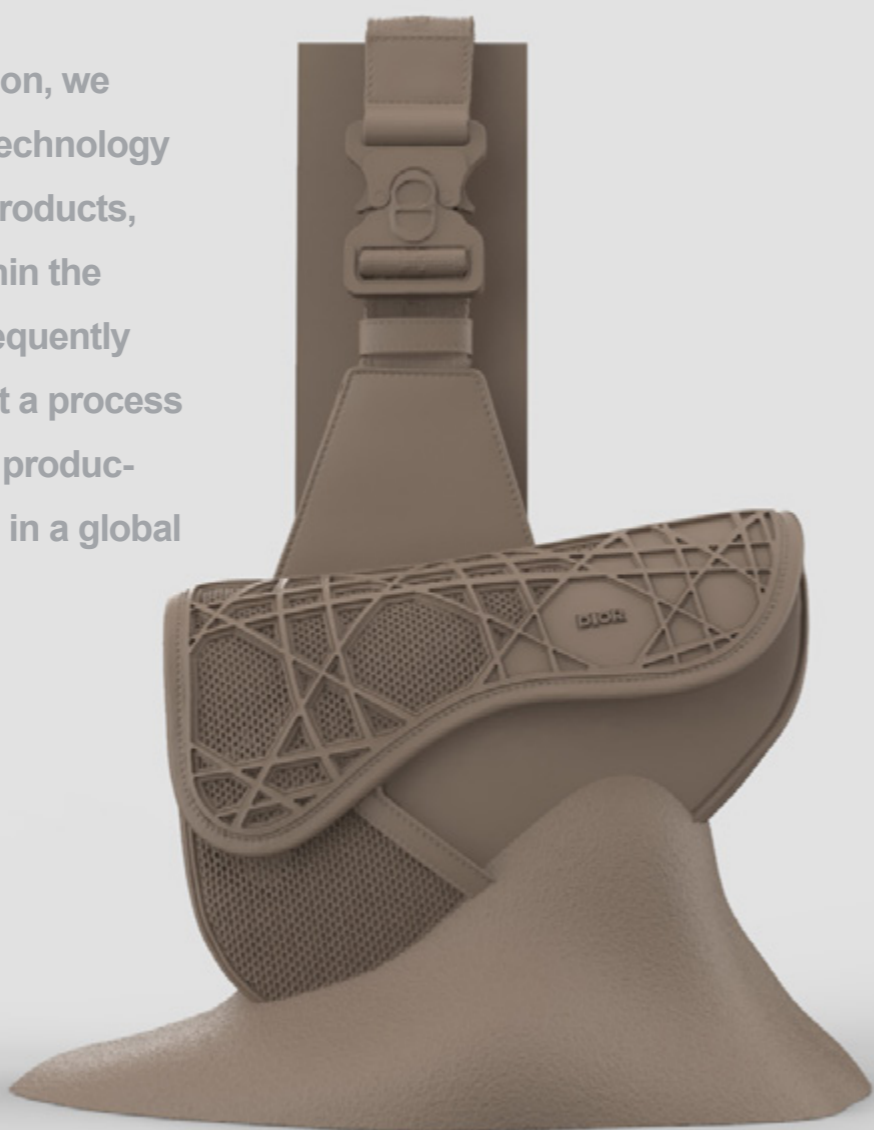

DIOR FALL 23

For the Dior Fall 2023 collection, we utilized advanced scanning technology to capture their remarkable products, digitally immersing them within the texture of sand dunes. Subsequently the digital sculpts, underwent a process of 3D printing, moulding and production. All this work culminated in a global rollout.

MACY'S

Universal Display and Design USA collaborated with Macy's to conceptualize and create these designs for their Dadeland Florida store. Digitally sculpted 3D flowers were intricately crafted and applied during installation. Additionally, we crafted a series of framed artworks designed to be hung on the wall.

PURE MANNEQUINS @ HARVEY NICHOLS

This year Harvey Nichols crafted another stunning window display featuring our Pure mannequins.
